

Gano Excel Consignment Release

I, _____, the owner of the below business hereby relinquish all claim to my Gano Excel business position. I understand I was one of 100 companies selected for the pilot program but for whatever reason I have decided not to proceed with the business.

I have returned all consigned product or the equivalent wholesale value for any items I personally sold in my shop to my enroller below.

I understand that any distributors, stores, business volume, reward points or other value below or with my position are released to my enroller without prejudice.

I understand that any claim to business value, commissions, ecommerce income now or in the future or other monetary value are released to my enroller below to be transferred to another entity at my enrollers discretion that wants to proceed with this business position.

I will hold no claim now or in the future on this business position for any purpose. I understand I have at least the business value below at the time of this release and have been explained that the business may do nothing or grow rapidly. Because a team is building below this specific center, there could be substantial value.
